Weapon Categories

The weapons that our hero Pit uses vary greatly in their characteristics. There are nine overall weapon categories, and there are multiple weapons within each category. In addition, multiples of the same exact weapon can possess extra modifying characteristics.

Staves

With powerful, penetrating shots, staves excel in long-range sniping. Although weak in close combat and lacking homing performance, staves feature shots that grow in power over distance.

Bows

Bows perform well as medium- to long-range weapons, featuring razor-sharp arrows with decent homing ability and high velocity.

Clubs

Clubs are generally the most powerful and dynamic weapons. While lacking a continuous-fire mode during Land Battles, the massive charged shots from clubs leave a swath of destruction.

Orbitars

Orbitars are best suited for long-range fire. They launch two separate shots that can hit targets individually over a wide range and add up to high damage when used on one target.

Blades

Well balanced for both usability and strength, blades combine characteristics of swords and guns for performance in both ranged and close-quarters combat.

Claws

Equipped on both hands, claws are well suited to melee combat. Their light weight also increases running speed, allowing for penetration right up into melee range of enemies.

Palms

Enabling a wielder to launch shots from the palm of the hand, palms make up for deficiencies in range and power with remarkably high homing capabilities.

Cannons

With charged shots that explode on impact, cannons are at their best when enveloping groups of enemies in massive, extremely powerful explosions.

Arms

Exhibiting immense melee power in close-quarters combat, the best tactic with arms is to close in on opponents, thus minimizing its biggest weakness: the shortest range of any weapon category.
